

Thriving Communities Work Together To Improve Air Quality

September 23, 2021

Who We Are - Regional Air Quality Council

SARA GOODWIN

RAQC Communications Director

Leads public information and outreach of programs, and works closely with communities to create resources and build strategic partnerships. Has 2 overzealous dogs.

sgoodwin@raqc.org

JESSICA FERKO

RAQC Air Quality Planner/Analyst

Works on air quality State Implementation Plans, develops control strategies, performs technical evaluation, and stakeholder relations. Lover of books and bicycles.

jferko@raqc.org

MIKE SILVERSTEIN

RAQC Executive Director

Directs air quality planning for the Denver metro/North Front Range ozone nonattainment area; works closely with industry and local governments. Survived multiple years living in South Florida.

msilverstein@raqc.org

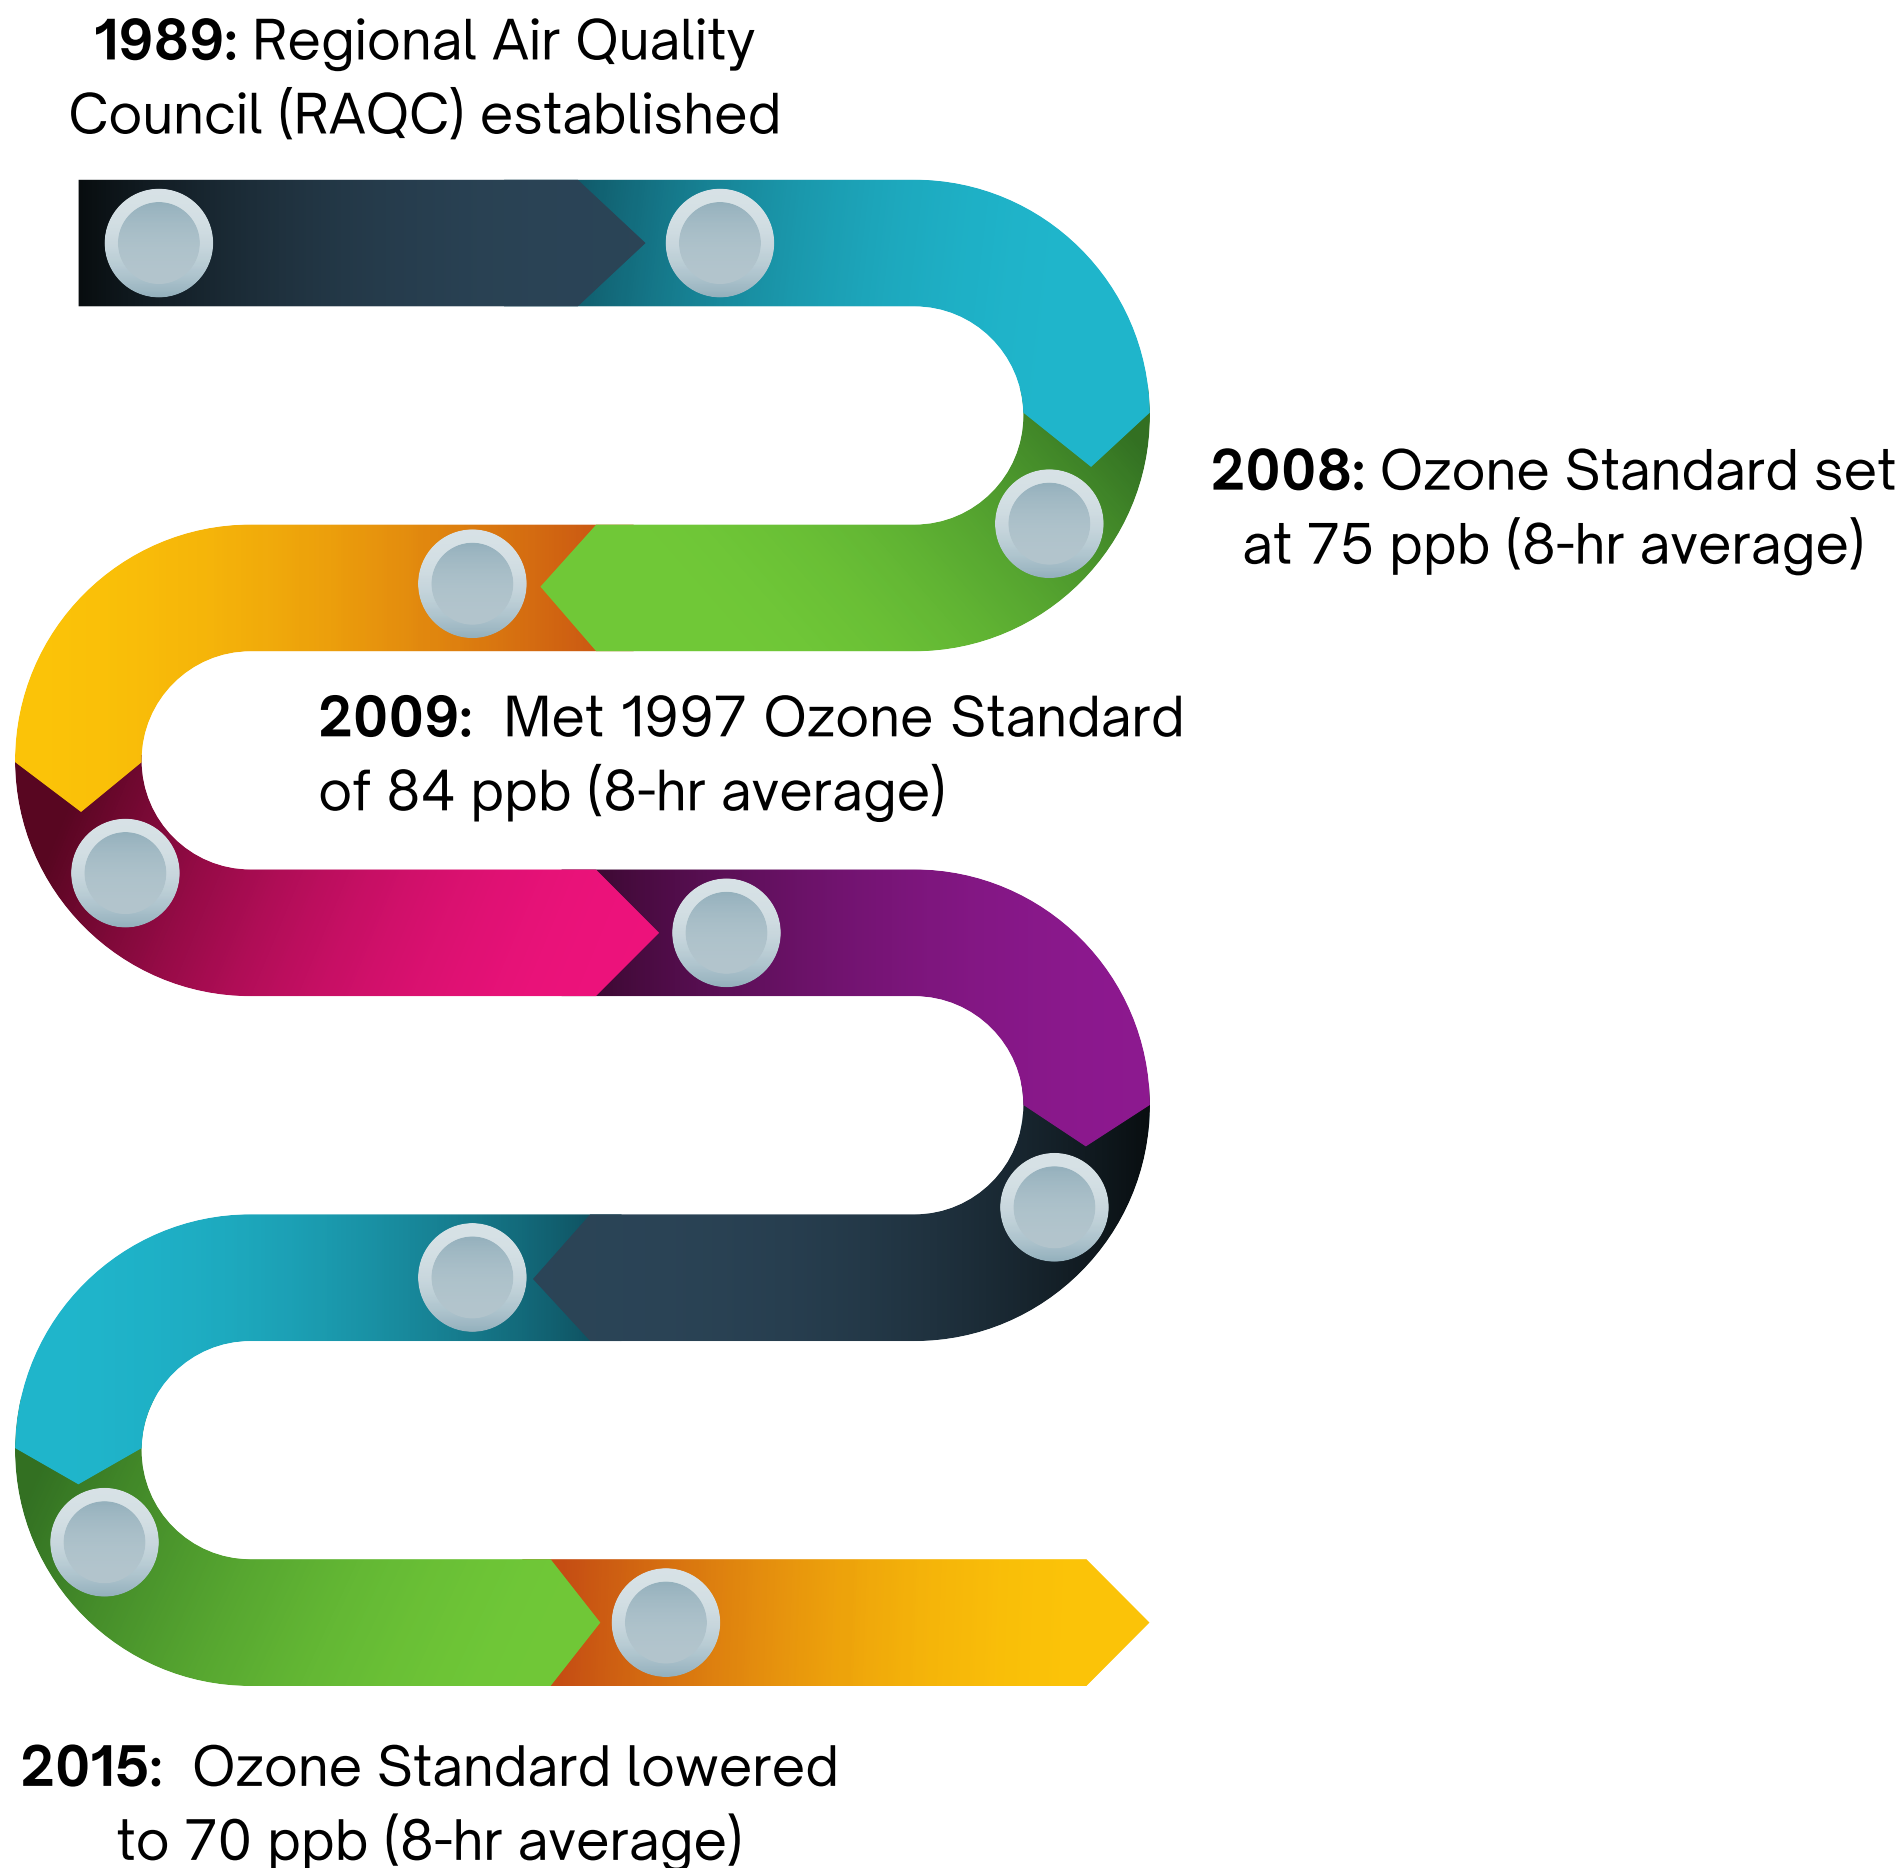

Part 1:

Understanding Air Quality in Colorado

Federal Standards Timeline

The Problem

- O₃ Our region violates two federal ozone standards
- O₃ Our ultimate air quality goal is meeting the 2015 standard by 2023-2024

Part 2:

Community-Based Programs That Work When You Need Them To

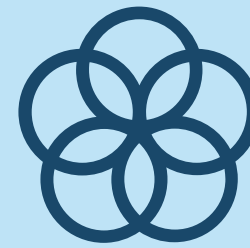

What Are Your Needs?

(and how we can help)

Before You Go...

- What do you need to know more about?
- Would you like to learn more about participating in the RAQC Local Government Collaboration Work Group?
- Want support engaging your community in a fun, positive way?

PARTNERSHIPS

Thank You!